Letter to the Editor

Dear GTI,
 We just completed an extended holiday to New Zealand and Australia. In the two-month period of our visit, we saved several thousand dollars on hotels using the photo ID card and business cards. We usually received a minimum of a 10% discount at the small hotels and 20% to 50% off at the larger hotels. We know the savings were real, since we always asked the rate before asking for any discounts. We stayed primarily in first class facilities. Therefore, the savings in more than 60 days were substantial. Our best estimate is $4000 to $5000 over 60 days!
